First I would have thee cherish truth As leading star in virtue s train; Folly may pass, nor tarnish youth, But falsehood leaves a poison stain. --Eliza Cook. The Eagle s Nest. Text: As an eagle stirreth up her nest, fluttereth over her young, spreadeth abroad her wings, taketh them, beareth them on her wings: so the Lord alone did lead him. (Deut. xxxii. II, 12.) God puts his relation to us under the strongest metaphors. He is our Sun, our Munition of rocks; he is for us the Lion of the tribe of Judah, and his care for us like that of the eagle caring for its young. This king of the air, whose habitat is on high and whose loyalty is universal, is here made to illustrate God s care over his people. It has its home and brings its young into life amid the inaccessible cliffs at the highest point possible above the earth, with the constant aim to teach and train them for a still higher element. The eagle lives apart from the earth and has as little as possible to do with it and is most at home when beyond the clouds. This World Is the Eyrie of Souls. This is God s principal use for this world, to make of it a nursery in which to rear his young. The harmonious process of the seasons, the bloom and blight of the flowers, the growth and...
