Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Disaster preparedness became a renewed priority for our Nation as a direct response to the devastation of the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001. Following the tragedies of that day, government at all levels has embedded stronger collaboration with nongovernmental civic and private sector organizations and the general public in policies and practices. The Citizen Corps grassroots model of community preparedness has spread across the country, and Americans have been asked to become fully aware, trained, and practiced on how to respond to potential threats and hazards. To evaluate the Nation s progress on personal preparedness, the Federal Emergency Management Agency s (FEMA s) Community Preparedness Division conducts Citizen Corps National Surveys to measure the public s knowledge, attitudes, and behaviors relative to preparing for a range of hazards. FEMA s Community Preparedness Division publishes the Citizen Preparedness Review to highlight specific areas of research regarding community preparedness and to summarize research findings from multiple sources.
